John Buckley OF 20/20 Home Inspection of NJ, HAS PASSED THE NATIONAL HOME INSPECTOR EXAMINATION

John Buckley--- 20/20 Home Inspection of NJ has taken and passed the nationally-recognized National Home Inspection Examination. The NHIE is used by 21 states to assess home inspector competence. It is developed, maintained and administered by the Examination Board of Professional Home Inspectors, an independent not-for-profit organization.

“Our mission is to provide a valid, reliable, and legally defensible examination for states and others who need to assess home inspector competency,” said Noël Zak, executive director of EBPHI. “We congratulate those who have passed this rigorous exam.”

EBPHI serves the public interest by establishing the standard of competence for the home inspection profession. Governed by a volunteer board of directors, the organization does not depend on membership dues revenue, focusing wholly on consumer protection in home inspector competency assessment.

Since 1999, the Board has administered more than 18,000 examinations nationwide.
